TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I am writing this letter as an introduction for Mr. Grahame Hutchinson of Vulcanite Australia. In my various management roles with Bombardier in Australia, I have been personally involved with Grahame and his company for nearly 10 years during which time they have been a supplier of rubber products for our rollingstock.

I have always found Vulcanite to be a pro-active and professional company willing to take on challenges that other suppliers have baulked at, including reverse engineering of obsolescent components. As an example of this, we entered into a licence agreement with Vulcanite some 5 years ago where we gave them exclusive right to manufacture OEM rubber components that Bombardier held the design Intellectual Property on. This has been a successful agreement for both parties and laid the springboard for a long term partnership between us.

I have no hesitation in recommending Grahame and his company as a dependable and trustworthy supplier.

Yours Faithfully
